

A photograph of a beach with dark sand, scattered driftwood, and a bird's nest. The text is overlaid on the image. The background shows a sandy beach with several pieces of weathered, greyish-brown driftwood. In the foreground, a bird's nest is visible on the sand, containing several small, white, fluffy chicks. The text is written in a white, serif font, centered on the image.

Luke 12:04 And I say unto you my friends, Be not afraid of them that kill the body, and after that have no more that they can do.