

A close-up photograph of a large bush of flowers, likely azaleas, in full bloom. The flowers are a mix of vibrant pink and light orange colors, with some showing variegated patterns. The green leaves are interspersed among the blossoms, creating a lush and colorful scene. The lighting is bright, highlighting the delicate petals and the overall texture of the plant.

Joh 11:26 And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die.
Believest thou this?